“Nature is always changing, never static.

Great design should do the same.

Arrange, rearrange, combine opposites, “wabi sabi,” startle, surprise, extend and surpass yourself. Put things together that have nothing in common. And remember: if you aren't making mistakes, you aren't growing.

Work with the natural textures of ReCreations. Try these containers with foliage gathered from the garden or field—then let the materials dictate the design.”

"Never hesitate to try something different.

I always try to use product in unexpected ways:

flowers, foliage, containers.

ReCreations are the perfect platform for diving into something new—as gift baskets, for instance. Around the holidays, nothing makes a nicer gift than a tempting selection of fruit, wine, chocolates—maybe some dog treats—all beautifully wrapped in cellophane. These gift baskets are incredibly easy to make—and to sell."
